OPINION DENYING LEAVE TO PROCEED IN FORMA PAUPERIS - THREE STRIKES

Plaintiff Gary M. Northington, a prisoner incarcerated at Mound Correctional Facility, filed a complaint pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 1983. Plaintiff sought leave to proceed in forma pauperis, which this Court granted on May 6, 2010. Upon subsequent review, it appears that leave to proceed in forma pauperis was improvidently granted. Because Plaintiff has filed at least three lawsuits that were dismissed as frivolous, malicious, or for failure to state a claim, he is barred from proceeding in forma pauperis under 28 U.S.C. § 1915(g). The Court will vacate its May 6, 2010 order granting leave to proceed in forma pauperis and order Plaintiff to pay the $350.00 civil action filing fee within twenty-eight (28) days of this opinion and accompanying order. If Plaintiff fails to pay the full filing fee, the Court will order that his action be dismissed without prejudice. Even if the case is dismissed, Plaintiff will be responsible for payment of the $350.00 filing fee in accordance with In re Alea, 286 F.3d 378, 380-81 (6th Cir. 2002).

Discussion

The Prison Litigation Reform Act (PLRA), Pub. L. No. 104-134, 110 Stat. 1321 (1996), which was enacted on April 26, 1996, amended the procedural rules governing a prisoner's request for the privilege of proceeding in forma pauperis. As the Sixth Circuit has stated, the PLRA was “aimed at the skyrocketing numbers of claims filed by prisoners – many of which are meritless – and the corresponding burden those filings have placed on the federal courts.” Hampton v. Hobbs, 106 F.3d 1281, 1286 (6th Cir. 1997). For that reason, Congress put into place economic incentives to prompt a prisoner to “stop and think” before filing a complaint. Id. For example, a prisoner is liable for the civil action filing fee, and if the prisoner qualifies to proceed in forma pauperis, the prisoner may pay the fee through partial payments as outlined in 28 U.S.C. § 1915(b). The constitutionality of the fee requirements of the PLRA has been upheld by the Sixth Circuit. Id. at 1288.

In addition, another provision reinforces the “stop and think” aspect of the PLRA by preventing a prisoner from proceeding in forma pauperis when the prisoner repeatedly files meritless lawsuits. Known as the “three-strikes” rule, the provision states:

In no event shall a prisoner bring a civil action or appeal a judgment in a civil action or proceeding under [the section governing proceedings in forma pauperis] if the prisoner has, on 3 or more prior occasions, while incarcerated or detained in any facility, brought an action or appeal in a court of the United States that was dismissed on the grounds that it is frivolous, malicious, or fails to state a claim upon which relief may be granted, unless the prisoner is under imminent danger of serious physical injury.

28 U.S.C. § 1915(g). The statutory restriction “[i]n no event,” found in § 1915(g), is express and unequivocal. The statute does allow an exception for a prisoner who is “under imminent danger of serious physical injury.” The Sixth Circuit has upheld the constitutionality of the “three-strikes” rule against arguments that it violates equal protection, the right of access to the courts, and due process, and that it constitutes a bill of attainder and is ex post facto legislation. Wilson v. Yaklich, 148 F.3d 596, 604-06 (6th Cir.1998); accord Rodriguez v. Cook, 169 F.3d 1176, 1178-82 (9th Cir. 1999); Rivera v. Allin, 144 F.3d 719, 723-26 (11th Cir. 1998); Carson v. Johnson, 112 F.3d 818, 821-22 (5th Cir. 1997).

Plaintiff has been an active litigant in the federal courts in Michigan, having filed fourteen cases in the Eastern District of Michigan and three cases in this district. In more than three of Plaintiff’s lawsuits, the Court entered dismissals on the grounds that the complaint was frivolous, malicious, or for failure to state a claim. See Northington v. Armstrong et al., No. 1:04-cv-164 (W.D. Mich. Aug. 5, 2004) (dismissing complaint for failure to state a claim); Northington v. Dep’t of Corr. et al., Consol. Case Nos. 2:01-cv-72428, 2:02-cv-71847 (E.D. Mich. Nov. 20, 2002) (dismissing complaint for failure to state a claim because barred by the statute of limitations, with alternative holding that Plaintiff had failed to exhaust his administrative remedies); Northington v. Glazer et al., No. 2:96-cv-71707 (E.D. Mich. May 29, 1996) (dismissing complaint as frivolous). In addition, on May 19, 2003, the United States Supreme Court held that Plaintiff had repeatedly abused the Court’s process and directed the Clerk not to accept any further petitions from Plaintiff in noncriminal matters unless Plaintiff paid the full filing fee. See Northington v. Mich. Dep’t of Corr., 538 U.S. 919 (2003). Moreover, although the complaint, in part, alleges that Plaintiff was denied adequate medical care in 2008 and 2009 and that those denials caused injury to Plaintiff’s lungs, the allegations do not fall within the exception to the three-strikes rule because he does not allege any facts establishing that he is under imminent danger of further serious physical injury.

In light of the foregoing, § 1915(g) prohibits Plaintiff from proceeding in forma pauperis in this action. Plaintiff has twenty-eight (28) days from the date of entry of this order to pay the entire civil action filing fee, which is $350.00. When Plaintiff pays his filing fee, the Court will screen his complaint as required by 28 U.S.C. § 1915A and 42 U.S.C. § 1997e(c). If Plaintiff fails to pay the filing fee within the 28-day period, his case will be dismissed without prejudice, but he will continue to be responsible for payment of the $350.00 filing fee.
